Happily Ever After

By Leah Carolan
February 14, 2011 – a Valentine's Day comedy for my husband

```
          C          G/B          Am          G
INTRO |   /   /   /  |   /   /   /  |   /   /   /  |   /   /   /
```

VERSE 1

```
C                          G/B
As a little girl I'd always dreamed myself a princess
          Am                          G
wearing little princess dresses and a little princess crown
C                          G/B                          Am                          G
I'd be in my castle staring out the window looking for my prince to come a'riding up the hill.
C                                  G/B                          Am                          G
You would enter on a white horse, decorated golden sparkles, holding up your shiny princely sword.
C                                  G/B                                  Am                          G
I would give you just one smile and you would climb up to my tower, and that's how the story would end.
```

CHORUS

```
C              G                D                   Em
   Some fairy tales come true,  when it comes to you and me, Baby.
C                          G       Em            D          C          D                   G (Em)
   Though we're far from royalty, it's not hard to see happily ever after, this one's going to be.
```

VERSE 2

```
C                          G/B                          Am                          G
Funny how the fairy tales never mentioned grocery bills, or the tasks of day to day life.
      C                          G/B                          Am                          G
This little place that we call home doesn't have a castle dome, only thing to climb here are the stairs.
C                          G/B
All the pretty princess dresses, tucked away within our messes,
Am                                  G
and your white horse drives more like a beat-up car.
C                                  G/B                                  Am                          G
And our little kingdom feels more like a cardboard box with shingles, and our bridge just a parking lot.
```

BRIDGE

```
D              Em              C              G
We still get to fight the dragons,  You still get to kiss the maiden.
D                   Em                  C       G
    And the sappy love songs are still in the air
D              Em              C              G
In this castle you are the king,  by your side, your dazzling queen
D              Em              C     G
   A fortune more than golden coins
```

TAG

```
          C          D                   Em          C          D                   G   [C G/B Am G]
Happily ever after, this one's going to be,    Happily ever after, Baby, you and me
```

© 2011 Leah Carolan. All rights reserved.
A CCLI License does not cover use of this song. Please ask for permission at http://www.radiantventure.com